

PART 1: TPP MODELLING BACKGROUND

Estimates of potential benefits from TPP that have had most publicity, in New Zealand and elsewhere, come from the 'Petri' study (Petri, Plummer and Zhai, 2012-2013 – available at asiapacifictrade.org)

Petri's work has been criticised domestically (Sustainability Council of New Zealand – available at sustainabilitynz.org/trans-pacific-partnership) but also validated by NZIER. His more conservative assumptions suggested GDP gains to New Zealand of US$1.8 billion (0.9%) in 2025. With enhanced assumptions, additional income gains were estimated at US$2.3 billion in 2025. Export gains were estimated at US$4.1 billion in 2025.

MFAT commissioned some modelling work domestically (Strutt, Minor and Rae) to test a range of hypothetical scenarios and as a comparison to Petri. Scenarios covered:

- Goods tariffs s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j)
- Goods NTMs s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j)
- Trade Facilitation: conservative – 25% reduction in customs clearance time; s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j) and s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j)
- Services: s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j)

In the STR paper we have presented:

Goods tariffs: s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j) s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j)

To which add:

Trade facilitation: s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j)

Goods non-tariff measures s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j)

Services s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j)

s 6 (a); s 9 (2) (j)

PART 4: INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY BACKGROUND

The IP chapter is now sufficiently progressed that we can outline the likely final outcome, apart from s 9(2)(d); s 9(2)(j); s 6(e)(vi).

withheld: s 6(a); s 6(e)(vi);

- s 9(2)(d); s 9(2)(j).

Table 1 outlines the core obligations that New Zealand will need to take on in order to implement the IP chapter. s 6(a); s 6(e)(vi); s 9(2)(d); s 9(2)(j). The table also provides a brief explanation of the likely impacts of each proposal that were traversed in CAB Min 12/30/12. These impacts will be explained more comprehensively in the National Interest Analysis for the agreement.
